SECUROTISATION

Alex. McBratney

Faculty of Agriculture & Environment
Concept called SECURITISATION
International Relations

Process of :-

who securitises (us? governments?)

on which issues (soil?)

for whom (humanity?)

with which results (better soil condition, food and water security?)

and under which conditions (capital?)
Can lead to perverse outcomes if disproportionate amounts of resources used or extraordinary means legitimised or political or academic debate is quashed to achieve goals.
Soil security hopefully is not an example of ‘strong’ securitisation
All of these require some kind of ‘weak’ securitisation
