CONSTITUTION OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF AGRONOMY.

NAME.

ARTICLE I. The name of this organization shall be The American Society of Agronomy.

OBJECT.

ARTICLE II. The object of the Society shall be the increase and dissemination of knowledge concerning soils and crops and the conditions affecting them.

CHARTER MEMBERS.

ARTICLE III. All persons expressing a desire to join the Society and paying the annual dues before July 1, 1908, shall be charter members.

MEMBERSHIP.

ARTICLE IV. Membership shall be of two kinds, active and associate. Active membership shall be limited to persons who are engaged in teaching agronomy, or in scientific investigation in some branch of agronomy. Associate membership shall be composed of other persons interested in the object of the Society. Associate members shall be entitled to all privileges of the Society except that of voting. Active membership may be secured by the endorsement in writing of one active member, and upon approval by the President and Secretary and payment of the annual dues.

LOCAL SECTIONS.

ARTICLE V. Any three members may, with the approval of the Executive Committee, organize a local section of ten or more persons, making its own rules for associate membership, providing its members shall become active or associate members of the Society.

OFFICERS.

ARTICLE VI. The officers shall consist of a President, a First Vice-President, a Second Vice-President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer, which officers shall constitute the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE VII. The duties of these officers shall be those usually pertaining to their respective offices. Their term of office shall be for one year, or until their successors shall have been elected.

MEETINGS.

ARTICLE VIII. When not determined by vote of the Society, the time and place of meetings shall be decided by the Executive Committee.

AMENDMENTS.

ARTICLE IX. This constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting, announcement of the proposed amendments having been made at least ten days before such meeting.
