AGRONOMIC AFFAIRS.

Summer Conference of New England Agronomists

Under the auspices of the New England section of the American Society of Agronomy and in cooperation with the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station and Aroostook County Farm Bureau, some thirty agronomists, pathologists, and others interested in problems of potato production spent three days, August 8–10, 1922, in Aroostook County, Maine, inspecting potato fields and discussing problems of certification and production. The following program was rendered:

Aug. 8th and 9th.—Important features of potato culture in Aroostook County—En route Annual Farm Bureau Inspection Trip. County Agent Edward W. Morton.

Loc. cit.