Be sure to visit the Career Center at the 2015 Annual Meeting in Minneapolis this fall (15–18 November), located in the exhibit hall. Employers and job seekers will be meeting there to connect and communicate about a wide array of employment opportunities. Some specific events and features include:

Career Fair: Monday, 16 November, 3–6 pm. Learn about jobs—academic and industry-related, internships, and other opportunities offered by industry, government, and NGO employers. Come prepared to make an impression at this valuable and potentially career-changing event.

General information exchange: Peruse multiple job boards filled with open positions and notices posted by employers seeking employees. If a position catches your attention, consider meeting with a representative from that organization if he/she is on-site. You can use the comfortable space within the Career Center to sit down face-to-face and learn more about the position.

Who Benefits from the Career Center?
Job, Internship, and Volunteer Opportunity Seekers. Visit www.careerplacement.org now to upload your resume/CV and create your professional profile before arriving in Minneapolis. You can search current job postings and then visit us in Minneapolis for on-site meetings and interviews with motivated employers.

Employers. Visit www.careerplacement.org/meetings now to reserve space in the Career Center. Don’t miss this opportunity to make a presence, meet potential new employees, and share information about your place of employment.

Exhibitors. The Career Fair within the Career Center offers a valuable chance for you to participate and interact with job seekers and employers, at no charge. Contact Nicole Sandler at 608-268-3972 or nsandler@sciencesocieties.org for details and to reserve your Career Fair table.

Graduate School Forum
The annual Graduate School Forum, always a popular and beneficial feature of the Annual Meeting, is located in the exhibit hall near the Career Center. University representatives are encouraged to register now if they have not already to help promote their graduate program. Visit www.careerplacement.org/meetings to reserve a table.

Students. Take advantage of this opportunity to visit and meet with representatives from top graduate schools all around the country. No need to spend time and money traveling to each school individually when you can do it all with one stop in Minneapolis this November.

Participating graduate school programs registered so far include: Michigan State University, University of Arkansas, University of Tennessee, Kansas State University, Virginia Tech, Auburn University, Montana State University, University of Florida, Texas A&M University, University of Georgia, Oregon State University, University of Illinois, Iowa State University, Colorado State University, and University of Idaho.
