The Editorial Board extends a sincere thank you to those who contributed articles, information and paid for a subscription to Soil Survey Horizons. We encourage you to urge your nonsubscribing colleagues to order a subscription to your publication, Soil Survey Horizons. With your support we hope that we are not forced to increase subscription rates for at least another seven years. We solicit your continuing support in this effort.

Editorial Board Meets in Denver, Colorado

Gerald A. Miller

Your Soil Survey Horizons Editorial Board met on Oct. 29, 1991, in Denver, CO in conjunction with the American Society of Agronomy (ASA) and the Soil Science Society of America (SSSA) annual meetings. In addition, the editor made an oral report concerning Soil Survey Horizons activities at the SSSA Division S-5 business meeting on the same day.

Following is a list of reports and activities discussed during both meetings:

a. As of Oct. 1, 1991, a total of 960 subscriptions were enrolled for Vol. 32, 1992. This is approximately 100 less than needed to have a profitable year. Soil Survey Horizons subscription sales have exceeded expenses for the past 6 yr and 7 of the past 8 yr. New subscriptions are needed, however.

b. Associate Editors Jim Richardson, North Central Region, and Lawson Spivey, Jr., National Soil Survey Office, volunteered to serve a second 3-yr term on the editorial board.

c. Many Soil Survey Horizons subscribers also are members of the SSSA. At various times during the past 16 yr that Soil Survey Horizons has been affiliated with SSSA, these members have requested that their subscription renewal for Soil Survey Horizons be included on the annual membership renewal forms for the society. Division S-5 voted unanimously to direct the division Board representative to bring to the SSSA Board of Directors a request to allow for the payment of Soil Survey Horizons subscription with the annual SSSA renewal statement for SSSA members.

d. The centennial for soil survey in the USA will occur in 1999. Soil Survey Horizons and Division S-5 of the SSSA are interested in conducting activities beginning in 1994 to celebrate the centennial. Please contact the editor or the editorial board representative for your region if you have ideas and suggestions that can contribute to the centennial celebration.

e. SSSA members requested that Soil Survey Horizons manuscript review process be described in each issue. (This will be accomplished starting with this issue.)

---

¹Editor, Dep. of Agronomy, Iowa State Univ., Ames, IA 50011.