The meeting of the American Soil Survey Association was called to order by Dr. Austin L. Patrick in the large Ball room of the Wardman-Park Hotel in Washington on November 20, 1934. After a short address of welcome by the President, the program was taken up. The program as in other years had been prepared by Committee Chairmen and proved to be exceedingly interesting. There were several innovations. A Committee on Land Conservation appeared for the first time and consisted of eleven papers dealing with Soil Erosion.

The annual banquet which was held on November 21 was enjoyed by the members and their wives. This affair was held in honor of Dr. C. F. Marbut. A. T. Sweet spoke concerning Dr. Marbut's activities prior to his association with the soil survey. T. D. Rice spent some little time discussing Dr. Marbut's early work with the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils. Dr. H. G. Knight summed up in a few words Dr. Marbut's contributions to the work of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils. Dr. J. G. Lipman also spoke and in his talk explained some things concerning Dr. Marbut's relationship with the International Society of Soil Science. The Association presented Dr. Marbut with a gold watch and chain and the presentation was made by Professor A. R. Whitson.
