The Committee on Affiliation wishes to recommend the acceptance of the invitation for affiliation from the American Society of Agronomy. At the last meeting of the Agronomy Society, the following article to the constitution was adopted:

Article VIA. There shall also be a Council of the Society, composed of the Executive Committee and the Presidents of all affiliated societies, which shall meet at the annual meetings of the Society for the discussion of plans and policies. Affiliation shall be on invitation of the Society. Members of all affiliated societies shall have the privilege of meeting with the Agronomy Society, presenting papers and publishing in the Journal.

It will be observed that with the adoption of this article, it becomes possible for those societies which are invited to affiliate with the Society of Agronomy to secure the privilege of attending meetings of the Agronomy Society, of presenting papers, and of publishing in the Journal. No additional fees are required from members of affiliated organizations and no interference whatever results to the work of such organizations. They maintain their integrity in every sense. The only requirement, if such should be considered a requirement, is that the President of the affiliated society should meet with the executive committee of the Agronomy Society, and the presidents of the other affiliated societies in an annual council meeting.

The committee believes that it would be to the interest of the Soil Survey Association to become affiliated with the American Society of Agronomy.
